Methodology changes

Economic contribution

A new methodology has been developed by Alma Economics for the figures used in this year's reports. Figures from previous years have been retrospectively changed to reflect this new methodology and published in the 2023/24 report. As such, figures from this report should not be compared to previous reports.

The main changes to the methodology were:

- Not to include adult social care related jobs in the NHS in either the wage bill or gross value added totals.

- To include induced effects on top on indirect effects.
